In exchange for the Consideration received, and by signing this agreement, I unconditionally provide the Contributor the right to license and employ the Content in any method, shape, or medium, for all purposes (excluding unlawful or pornographic uses). These uses could include art, advertising, promotion, marketing, and packaging for any goods or services. I confirm that:

- The Content can be merged with other images and can be altered;
I do not possess any rights to review or approve the Content or the manner it's utilized;
I have no right to additional Consideration and will not lodge any complaints related to the Content, under any circumstances, against the Contributor.

I agree that my personal information will remain confidential but may be used in association with the licensing of the Content when necessary (for example, to ward off claims and uphold legal rights). This information may be kept as long as required to fulfill this purpose and may be shared with the Contributor's sub-licensees and assignees. It may also be transferred to countries with different data protection and privacy laws, where it may be stored, accessed, and used.

I exonerate and agree to indemnify the Contributor and their licensees, sub-licensees, successors, and assignees (collectively, the "Released Parties") from any liability stemming from or related to the use of the Content. This includes any potential claims for defamation or violation of privacy or publicity rights. I acknowledge that the Released Parties cannot be held accountable for any unauthorized use or infringement of the Content.

I affirm and warrant that I possess the full legal authority to sign this agreement on my own account or on behalf of the company that owns the property. I acknowledge and agree that this agreement is enforceable on my heirs and assigns.

Definitions

"Contributor" refers to any individual or organization involved in capturing, filming, or recording the Content in any form during the session. This also extends to those who are given the rights by the Contributor, such as licensees, successors, and any persons to whom the Contributor's rights may be passed on.

"Consideration" signifies something valuable that I have received as a trade-off for the rights I'm granting in this agreement.

"Content" denotes any still or moving images, films, illustrations, animations, audio, or other types of recordings taken of the property, either real or personal as identified below. This is the property that I either own or have the authority to permit its use as the subject matter of the recording session.
